

RULE 9-1 | MOTIONS

Parties seeking review of a district court's order on release in a criminal case under FRAP 9(a) must file a motion with this court setting out the reasons why the party believes the order should be reversed. The clerk shall set expedited deadlines for the filing of the motion, the response, and any reply. All motions for release or for modification of the conditions of release, whether filed under FRAP 9(a) or 9(b), must include a copy of the judgment or order from which relief is sought and of any opinion or findings of the district court.
