1. From the beginning of my employment with the Respondent, OCWEN Financial, on or about February, 1995, until I was constructively discharged from the employer on October 28, 1997, I was paid substantially less than other similarly situated male employees; despite being asked to perform the same or more difficult duties than other similarly situated male employees, I was given a lesser job title, thereby affecting bonus availability and amount and subjecting me to different terms and conditions of employment and chain of command; I was formally given authority as a manager only over a small group of women (the "hen pen" as it was nicknamed by my male counterparts), despite my being given a workload and responsibility equal to or exceeding that of my male manager counterparts and the male vice presidents above me; although I was equally or better qualified for promotions, time and again I watched my male counterparts (some of whom even had less seniority than me) get promoted past me; I was harassed both in the repeated use of terms such as "the hen pen," being given a poor evaluation despite excellent job performance in order for the company to deny me any type of appropriate bonus as compared to my male counterparts, and being forced to work longer hours than my male counterparts or give up the meager bonus I was awarded (i.e. meager as compared employees.

2. The Respondent did not give me any explanation for its actions.

3. I believe that the Respondent, OCWEN Financial, discriminated against me based on my gender, female, in violation of the Florida Human Relations Act (F.S.S. §760.10), when from the date of my employ, it failed to pay me equal wages and denied me a just bonus as compared to similarly situated male counterparts; refused to promote me and promoted other lesser qualified male employees instead; permitted its employees to harass me as described above; subjected me to differing terms and conditions of employment as described above; failed to give me the proper title and authority for my job responsibilities; and forced me to resign on October 28, 1997.

4. I believe that other similarly situated women have been subjected to similar discriminatory acts by the Respondent as well.
